FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1900.

IT IS BEGINNING TO LOOK RIGHT.

There is a disposition by some of our more enterprising business people to make some provision for the reduction of copper ores, which are plentiful in the mountains near Reno. It is encouraging to learn that Reno men are interesting themselves in making provision for home industries which may be made profitable to the people and to themselves. The farmer and the lark, as related in story at the close of Noah Webster's spelling book, from which some of the older boys learned a lesson of dependence and independence in early boyhood, is making an appearance in the spirit it was intended to cultivate and enlarge.

The present outlook at Reno gives an appearance that the lesson may bear fruit, which will be a verification of the bible record. Train up a child in the way he should go and he will depart from it when he is old. The lesson was intended to show the necessity there is of dependence upon ourselves to succeed; also to teach the underlying principle there is to success in independence of others, when we can do that which is demanded by our environment without their assistance.

Do what you can do without the aid of others and there will not be loss of time or disappointment by depending on the help of others that may not come. Should an enterprise be entered upon that will lead to profit by our own enterprising citizens, it will do more to direct public attention to Reno and Washoe county than any enterprise would do that is provided by others. It is in the order of things that action is attraction. The attention of others is directed in a way by action that words will not call forth. Attention is not only engaged by action, but the mind is called into action and investigation, a result that no other means will bring about.

Action presents to the minds of others the industry included in the form of a query, and the state of the man whose attention is arrested is the opposite of what it is when he is addressed in words. When addressed in words only, he is approached by the person whose interest it is to enlist his favor. Persuasion has largely to be used in connection with imparting a knowledge of the subject presented before an impression can be made to enlist favorable consideration. When work is going on for a given purpose the man under whose observation it comes is interested and begins to inquire about its object or purpose and the positions of the men are largely reversed and interest is enlisted without persuasion or effort in the enterprise.

Action has in it a lifting or a self-helping power that will bring success if it is possible under the environment in which it is moving, and more particularly is it so when the conditions present are favorable, such as a presumed knowledge on the part of those engaged in the enterprise, which the people of Reno would be deemed to possess of natural mineral development in Washoe county. Much effort has been expended by men who are residents of Reno and the county of Washoe to develop the mineral wealth of the county, but it has hitherto received no encouragement from those who were not directly engaged in the work. When any effort was made to bring the county and its natural wealth to the attention of others there has been a class who, for the purpose of showing their superior knowledge of the surroundings, have made it a duty to underestimate the work and knowledge of others, by speaking evil of those engaged in the work of development, and of speaking discouragingly of the town, county and country.

These persons are ignorant of the true conditions there are in the county and are because of their ignorance and weakness a positive nuisance to the community. They are talkative drivers of slow coaches worn out in the rate of time. They are people born out of their time, who should have lived three hundred years ago when conditions were their way. Nature has made it impossible for them to do anything in this age and time and being out of harmony with their environment they are out of harmony with themselves and make it their business, if such it may be termed, to have a quarrel with all nature and with all men who are doing whatever they can to help the world and themselves.

There is another class who have too many representatives among us that seem to delight in making attacks upon men who are energetic by speaking evil of their purposes and efforts.

These contemptible creatures have done more to injure enterprise by speaking in a deprecating manner and falsely of others whose efforts were of a praise-worthy nature than the talkative driver of the slow worn out coach because their tongues are evil and their minds distill poison that is continually applied to progress in the efforts of others. It is begotten in envy and jealousy that contains a poison to good will and harmony in the community and through these conditions the united efforts of the community have been largely injured. In small communities these people have influence that is not known in larger communities as their size is equal only to small things which is chiefly in making mischief.

The writer has been subject to the attacks of these creatures for so many years that it has become part of his life to disregard them but those who are among us and have not been made subject to such attacks where they have lived and who are, to our personal knowledge, engaged earnestly in development work that is likely to aid the community have complained to the JOURNAL about these people and requested that public mention be made of the mischief they are engaged in, whose business it is to attend to the business of others who are engaged in doing work that may be a benefit to the community and themselves. The ability of these creatures except for mischief, is not worthy of notice, but when the probable success of any enterprise is assailed to strangers who have no knowledge of the character of these persons, it becomes a positive injury to the community at large and becomes a proper subject for public notice.

FOSTER'S PROPHECY

The Journal's Copyrighted Guess at What the Weather Will Be.

(Copyright, 1900, by W. T. Foster.)

ST. JOS. PH. MO., May 26.—About the date of this bulletin a low or warm wave will be out far from the longitude of Dayton, Ohio, moving rapidly eastward, and a high or cool wave will then be in longitude of Winnipeg, Fargo and San Antonio.

A low temperature wave will cross west of Rockies country about the 29th, east central valleys 31st, eastern states June 2, causing showers in many parts of the country.

The first week in June will be uneventful in weather matters. Showers of rain will be fairly well distributed up to about June 7th, at which time a ten days' drought will attack the growing crops and give the speculators an opportunity. The drought will cause a scare, but it will be partly broken not far from the 17th.

Mrs. Ruhe Very Low.

Mrs. Henry Ruhe, wife of Henry Ruhe, Sr., is dangerously ill. Two strokes of paralysis completely prostrated the old lady, and small hopes of her recovery are entertained.

Inadvertently Omitted.

C. Novacovich is a candidate for long term trustee on the register ticket for Reno's school district. By an oversight his name was omitted in yesterday's JOURNAL.

His Happy Future.

The Saunterer happened to be dining with a friend the other evening, and of course the table's population included the inevitable 5-year-old boy. The latter had fallen into the habit of asking for all kinds of impossible things, being refused and going howling from the room in obedience to the command. He would re-enter two minutes later with a half dozen dirty streaks and a bright I-accept-your-apology smile on his face.

On this evening, after the third excursion, he suddenly conceived an affection for the sugar bowl. He reached for it, got it and as promptly gave it up in response to the threatening hand of his mother. His father glanced up casually, waiting for the usual outburst before he sent him out, but instead the child's face brightened, and his eyes twinkled with anticipation.

"What are you so glad about, Willie?" asked his father.

"I w-uz thinkin'," answered Willie—"I wuz thinkin' of all the sugar I'm goin' to have when everybody else in this house is dead."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Mountain of Alum.

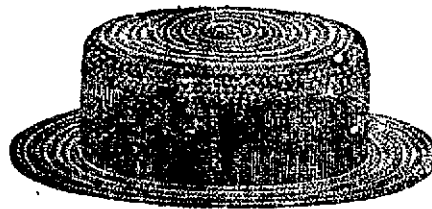

In China, 12½ miles from the village of Lion-Chek, there is a mountain of alum which, in addition to being a natural curiosity, is a source of wealth for the inhabitants of the country, who dig from it yearly tons of alum. The mountain is not less than ten miles in circumference at its base and has a height of 1,940 feet. The alum is obtained by quarrying large blocks of stone, which are first heated in great furnaces and then in vats filled with boiling water. The alum crystallizes out and forms a layer about six inches in thickness. This layer is subsequently broken up into blocks weighing about ten pounds each.

Meeting Postponed.
The Twentieth Century Club's regular meeting will not take place this afternoon on account of the illness of one of the members.
At the next regular meeting, two weeks from to-day, the election of officers will take place.

A STRINGENT FOOD LAW

Prohibits the Use of Arsenic or Alum in all Articles of Diet.

The law enacted by the Missouri legislature, a copy of which was recently published in our columns, and which prohibits the manufacture or sale of any article intended for food or to be used in the preparation of food, which contains alum, arsenic, amoniac, etc., places that state in the lead in the matter of sanitary legislation.
Laws restricting the use of alum in bread have been in force in England, Germany and France for many years. In this country, in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and several other states, direct legislation in reference to the sale of alum baking powders has also been effected. In several of these states their sale is prohibited unless they are branded to show that they contain alum, and in the District of Columbia, under the laws of Congress, the sale of bread containing alum has been made illegal.
Following are the names of some of the brands of baking powder sold in this vicinity which are shown by recent analysis to contain alum. Housekeepers and grocers should out the list out and keep it for reference:
Baking Powders Containing Alum:
K. C. ... Contains Alum
Manf. by Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago.
CALUMET ... Contains Alum
Manf. by Calumet Baking Powder Co., Chicago
HOME ... Contains Alum
Manf. by Home Baking Powder Co., San Francisco.
BEE-HIVE ... Contains Alum
Manf. by Washington Mfg. Co., San Francisco
CLOVER LEAF ... Contains Alum
Manf. by Pacific Mfg. Co., Los Angeles.
In addition to these, many grocers sell what they call their own private or special brands. These powders are put up for the grocer, and his name put upon the label by manufacturers of alum powders. The manufacturers, it is said, find their efforts to market their goods in this way greatly aided by the ambition of the grocer to sell a powder with his own name upon the label, especially as he can make an abnormal profit upon it. Many grocers, doubtless, do not know that the powders they are thus pushing are alum powders, the sale of which would be a misdemeanor under the law referred to.
It is quite impossible to give the names of all the alum baking powders. They are constantly appearing in all sorts of disguises, under different names and at all kinds of prices, even as low as five and ten cents a pound. They can be avoided, however, by the housekeeper who will bear in mind that all baking powders sold at 25 cents or less per pound are liable to contain alum, as pure cream of tartar powders cannot be produced at anything like this price.
A Hole in the Ground.
In the vacant lot south of the S. P. depot an excavation some three or four feet in depth offers an inviting aspect to the noble red man and families. Here they congregate in circular groups, gambling away their hard-earned "two-bit" pieces.
An eastern lady stepped off the west bound train, and was immediately attracted towards the bevy of gaily-garbed bucks and squaws. When informed that it was gambling which she drew together this aggregation of natives, she was more than shocked.
"Why, do your good citizens tolerate such a vile habit right in the heart of this thriving city?" she remarked in holy horror.
Well, we have deprived Lo of many of his inherited rights—so Lo, himself, thinks—and if we should require of him a license to run these giddy gambling games it might possibly hurt Reno's reputation as a free and easy western village.
Captain Overton Interviewed.
J. B. Overton is down from the big Hobart mill, and said a few words about matters at his camp. So many orders, not a few of which come from Reno, are on file at these mills that it will be impossible to fill them. From far distant Connecticut an order for white pine was received. Timber in the eastern States is thinned out considerably, judging from this.
Fruit boxes to the number of 1,400, 000 have been shipped from the box factory at Overton to points in southern California. What booming times they do have west of us!
Bicycle Collision.
Two swiftly flying scorchers gave an exhibition of what will happen to bicyclists who refuse to keep at least one eye open.
The riders referred to came together with a tearing, clashing thud which laid both riders in the dust and grime. Torn trousers, twisted wheels and a jarred pair of young men were the results. A request to refrain from publishing names is duly observed.
M. Frank & Co.
Their store is one wherein can be purchased a nobby hat, the latest style necktie, or any article in the gent's furnishing line at a price remarkably low for the best goods they handle.
Attention, Racing Team.
A business meeting of the Reno Wheelmen racing team will be held at the club rooms this, Friday, evening, 7.

KRAUS PRIZES DISTRIBUTED

Miss Bacon and Miss Keyser Win the Freshmen Honors.

The freshmen distinguished themselves last night and their contest was highly interesting, and instructive as well as pleasant. The young college men and co-eds of '00's class entered into the spirit of oratory in a manner that promises great things for them in the electionary line not many years hence.
The prizes contended for were two, the first amounted to $15, the second a ten spot. H. F. Kraus, our genial post master, offers these prizes annually to the freshmen, and the occasion is always one of note.
Miss May Bacon displayed unusual talent as an orator and writer of exceptional originality. The subject of her declamation was "Enno and the Ferry." To her was awarded the first prize. Miss Jessie Keyser delivered an oration on a topic cleverly entitled "Laska." This fair freshman took second place and the ten dollars.
The boys were out classed by the co-eds, but the oratorical ability of John W. Wright was given honorable mention and on second thought the sum of ten dollars was raised and presented to the young man, much to every one's satisfaction. Between "acts" the cadet band played selections with their usual dash. Mrs. Oscar J. Smith, J. M. Wilson and Prof. Kaye of Verdi acted as judges.
The Normals were busy all day Thursday reading theses. The subjects were as varied as the gowns worn by the young lady graduates, and gave one an insight into the kind of work accomplished by the Normals. Questions were asked some of the readers as to the why and wherefore of certain statements. In each case ready answers were forthcoming.
Prof. Cowgill's Library.
The required three hundred subscribers have been enrolled, and Prof. Cowgill is proceeding to carry out his plan. The rooms to be occupied have not yet been selected, but will be centrally located and convenient to each and every patron.
All the latest books are down on the list sent for—classical works, recent books which have caused a stir, and literature of standard reputation. Prof. Cowgill states that the public library lately spoken of will not come in conflict with his up-to-date library, but undoubtedly the two will join forces and be merged into one splendidly equipped book mart.
Justice Court.
Judge Linn had to content himself with a poor drunken Indian yesterday. The hobo element and professional crooks have evaded Reno this spring. The sheriff and posse must be terrors when a tramp will steer shy of Reno's resorts.

Midst Green Groves of Reno

Reno, if not blessed with a public park, can boast of a residence locality that reminds one of green woods and pastures new. Conner's old nursery has been out up into lots for some time, and parties looking for a building site are always charmed when shown this erstwhile private property. Modern cottages peep out from clusters of evergreen, ornamental shade and productive fruit trees. The up-to-date dwellings contrast strongly with the primitive wildwood.
Professor Bray's two-story structure is a model of new style cottages.
Foundations are being laid for several new houses. Professor Kral, instructor of the piano, has bought a lot here. Professor Wilson of the University and Mr. Andrews are having foundations laid for future homes.
This section of Reno will be a beautiful place to take visitors to, as no prettier spot can be found for miles around.

Sunset Telephone Line.

Manager Lake said that the wires of the Telephone Company had been strong as far as Floriston. It is the intention of this division to string wires to Towles at which place connections will be made with the other division of line stretchers. Then a perfect telephone system is assured with San Francisco and outside.

Ready for Action.

Wm. Calloway has been in Reno for several days making arrangements to start up the State Line Mills. Mr. Calloway assumes management for the remaining period of Ohas. Robinson's contract. The difficulty caused by the Electric Power Company's bridge was remedied by putting in V shaped booms on the upper side of the piers.

More Students Depart.

The University delegation of Y. M. C. A. students left on last night's 12:30 train for Pacific Grove to attend the annual convention of this association. The students chosen to represent the University branch were Feston Bonham, Edgar Leavitt, Joe Hall and Chester Lyman. They will return on the 5th of June.

Prosperity Up North.

Bundles of hides and bales of sheep skins are piled up on the depot platform. The N. O. O. brings these commodities in from the north. The merchants and ranchers up that way seem to be in a state of prosperity, as freight of all kinds is being daily shipped to points north of Ameslee.

His Life Was Saved.
Mr. J. E. Lilly, prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Slow Suicide.
A source of great evil among all workers is the widespread habit of eating a hearty meal hurriedly when the body is in a state of exhaustion. Too often, alas, the evil is enhanced by the fact that the food is unwholesome, badly cooked and clogging in itself. This is one species of slow suicide, causing a long train of evils which are usually attributed to overwork. Now, it were better to go without food than to take it under these conditions. Your dog knows better than to eat when he is tired, and if you will watch him you will notice that he is always reluctant to be enticed into play after eating. Left to himself he will take a nap, or at least drop care for awhile and rest. Humanity might raise its standard of health by following the simple set by the instincts of the brute creatures.—Health Culture.

No Right to Ugliness
The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.
KENNA, Jackson Co., W. Va.
About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance, her limbs being swollen to double their normal size. Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions and the next morning she walked to breakfast without assistance in any manner, and she has not had a similar attack since.—A.
